New Gaming Den Opened Locally

Resort On Yu Yuen Rd.
Said Most Lavish
In Entire City

Repeated official promises that local gambling dens in the western area would be reduced, showed even more remote chance of fulfillment today, when it was learned that one more gaming house was opened last night at 735 Yu Yuen Road, while another is likely to open up shortly at a well-known foreign club in the Settlement.

The new gambling den on Yu Yuen Road, bearing no name but with its lights brightly illuminating its address number, is the most lavish of its kind so far established in the western area.

According to one source, the stakes at the new gambling den are high and only persons with special passes will be permitted to enter and play at the tables.

The other gambling den is reported likely to open up in the near future at an address on Eubbling Well Road.

"SINO-JAPANESE ECONOMIC RESEARCH ASSOCIATION" IS AN OPIUM AND GAMBLING ORGANIZATION"

On October 14, Ting Kuo-hwa (丁國華), a responsible member of the "Sino Japanese Economic Research Association" (中日經濟研究會) at No. 82 Yates Road, sent Zien Yang-yuan (張養元) and Liu Ming-sung (劉明生), two accountants, to take 128 ounces of opium to the Jau Kong dyes shop (瑞康顏料店) at House No. 10, Lane 277, Shantung Road, and to hand the drug to one Wu (吳), an accountant of the shop. Zien and Liu were instructed by Ting to go by motor car, licence No. 9118, which is owned by Li Jau-kia (李德九), grandson of Marquis Li Hung-chang, residing at No. 150 Edinburgh Road. The motor car was driven by chauffeur Zau Peng-sung (曹榮生).

When the car arrived at the entrance of Lane 277 Shantung Road, the opium was discovered by officers of the Narcotic Section of the Shanghai Municipal Police. Zien, Liu and Zau were taken to the Police Station together with the motor car and the opium. When the officers went to arrest Wu, he had already made good his escape. The arrested persons were later charged in the Shanghai First Special District Court.

Yesterday morning, a further hearing of the case was held by Judge Sih-feng (蕭聖芳).

Mr. Paul Ru, Municipal Advocate, stated that House No. 82 Yates Road is a large secret gambling den which is also engaged in opium traffic. The opium seized was sold to the Jau Kong dyes shop. As Wu has escaped, the Court would be requested in accordance with law to issue a warrant for his arrest. Mr. Paul Ru further stated that the motor car licence No. 9118 had been taken away from the Police Station by a Jap head. He then requested, under Article 5 of the Opium Suppression Law, that a penalty be imposed upon the accused.

Accused Zien Yang-yuan stated that he did not know anything about the sending of opium.

Accused Liu Ming-sung stated that he sent the opium to the Jau Kong dyes shop under instructions from Ting Kuo-hwa.

Accused Zau Peng-sung stated that the car he drove belonged to one Lee and had been sent to House No. 82 Yates Road, and that he was ordered to drive the car to Shantung Road on that day but he did not know that opium was being transported.

Judge Sih-feng announced that the accused Zien Yang-yuan and Liu Peng-sung, for having engaged in trafficking in opium, would each be sentenced to five years' imprisonment, in addition to a fine of $1,000 each, and be deprived of civil rights for five years; that the accused Zau Peng-sung, for a similar offence, would be sentenced to two and a half years' imprisonment, in addition to being deprived of civil rights for two years; that the 128 ounces of seized opium be confiscated.

C.P.C. FATALLY SHOOTS C.D.C. BY MISTAKE

The Dah Sing Clock and Watch Shop (大新鐘表行), No. 230 Kiukiang Road and Hupeh Road, next to the New Wei Chung Hotel (新維中花會), is owned by Koo Pao-shu (顧寶樹), a native of Ningpo. This shop has been robbed three times this year: once on January 6, the second time in March and yesterday was the third time.

At about 7 p.m. yesterday, three robbers, two of whom were armed with pistols, entered the shop and after intimidating the inmates, robbed the place of 49 watches valued at $1,600. The robbers decamped along Kiukiang Road in an easterly direction.

When nearing Kiu King Lee (舊錦里), Shansee Road, the robbers were met by C.P.C. 424 of Louza Station who gave chase to the men and opened fire at them.

At about this time, Central Police Station received an alarm and sent out a number of armed Chinese and foreign detectives and policemen in a car. Chinese Detective Chin Tuh-sun (金德勝) gave chase to the robbers. As the C.D.C. who was in plain clothes was running close to the robbers, the C.P.C. mistook him for one of the robbers and fired four shots at him. One shot struck the C.D.C. in the back of his head and emerged through the forehead. He fell down in front of the Chang Shing Kee Silk Thread Shop (張興記) in Kiu King Lee. A C.P.C. on duty nearby sent the wounded C.D.C. to the Lester Chinese Hospital in a car, but the officer succumbed to his wounds at 8 p.m.

The robbers made good their escape.

A stray bullet broke a glass in the showcase of the Sze Shing Chong Embroidery Shop (時新昌).

JOINT MEETING TO BE HELD BY VARIOUS BENEVOLENT BODIES TO-MORROW

Of late contributions received for refugee relief have shown a marked decrease. A meeting of various benevolent bodies was summoned last week by the Shanghai Refugee Relief Association at which it was decided that all young and able-bodied refugees in the various refugee camps should be given a sum of money and be repatriated; that the rest of the refugees be kept in four camps.

However, some of the refugee camps are opposed to this decision for it was feared that many whole families would be separated. Hence, it has been suggested that after the young and able-bodied refugees have been repatriated, the refugee camps should be amalgamated so that it would be easier to manage the refugees and the expenses could be curtailed. It is learned that a joint meeting of representatives of the various benevolent bodies will be convened to-morrow afternoon by the Shanghai Refugee Relief Association. Whether there will be some changes in refugee relief work in Shanghai will be decided at the meeting to-morrow.

I'VE OFTEN WONDERED

BY CARROLL D. ALCOTT

Gambling Den

I HAVE received, during the past few days, numerous telephone calls complaining against the operation of a certain gambling den in the International Settlement of Shanghai.

This den, according to all accounts, is a fly-by-night affair. But it seems to have been well patronized for reports concerning its existence have been in circulation for some time.

The argument presented by those complaining was quite simple. They contended that since complaints against the gambling houses in the badlands have been common, it was only fair that mention should be made of this particular spot.

In this column, on the morning of September 21, I made mention of the establishment. I stated:

"Part of the revenue taken in by one of the local gambling dens is reported to be finding its way into the Italian war chest. . . . Although the police know of the existence of the place, they are almost powerless to do anything about it. The den operates under the protection of a certain foreign nation which has extrajurisdiction rights in China. If the police want to raid the place, a warrant is needed from the consular authorities concerned. While this may be forthcoming, news of the impending raid somehow gets into the hands of the operators and all the gaming equipment is removed before the police have a chance to get on the spot."

The Italian authorities have complained to the Shanghai Municipal Council, claiming that this report was malignant. I would like to point out, however, that my statement did not involve the Italian authorities. I merely said that it was reported that some of the revenue was finding its way into the hands of the Italian war chest. I presume that if anyone wants to donate to the Italian war chest, no matter how he got the money, that is his business.

As far as I know, the Italian authorities have nothing to do with the place, nor did I say they had. They may not even know of its existence, nor did I accuse them of knowing anything about it. If this is the impression created, I regret that such a misunderstanding should have developed.

Regarding the assertion that the "den operates as a club under the protection of a certain foreign nation which has extrajurisdiction rights in China," this assertion is an error. Those allegedly concerned are foreigners but they no longer have extrajurisdiction rights. They did up to a few years ago. As far as the location of this establishment is concerned, I shall name the place over the air when I have completed my own investigations.

September 25, 1940.

Commissioner of Police.
Sir,

At 3 p.m., September 24, I interviewed Mr. G. Leonoff, City Editor of the "China Press", relative to a news item published on September 21 and which forms the subject of complaint by the Acting Consul General for Italy. Mr. Leonoff at once pronounced the news item to be the work of Mr. Carroll Alcott and promised to bring the complaint to the notice of Mr. Alcott. At 10 a.m., September 25, Mr. Alcott telephoned to this office and asked what action the Police expect~~ing~~^{ing} him to take. He went on to explain that the news item ^{does} not state that the gambling den referred to is operated by an Italian subject and is prepared to publish a further news item to this effect in the "China Press" on September 26.

Mr. Alcott, in reply to further questions, stated that the gambling den referred to is in an apartment on Bubbling Well Road and that the Police have raided the establishment on one occasion. He stated that the two proprietors are Spanish citizens and that certain foreigners resident in Shanghai are willing to testify that they have gambled in the establishment under review. At this juncture I suggested that a responsible Police Officer call on Mr. Alcott this morning and obtain full particulars of the evidence in his possession. He pleaded pressure of work and secondly that he preferred to state his case in writing which action he proposes to take on or before Friday, September 27.

A draft of the correction regarding the nationality of the proprietor of the gambling den will, if Mr. Alcott makes good a promise, be forwarded to this office at 3 p.m. to-day, September 25. I suggested that a better course to follow would be for a representative of the "China Press" to call on the Acting Consul General for Italy but this suggestion was not favourably received and Mr. Alcott seems to be under the impression that the Acting Consul General for Italy should make representations to him direct.

Mr. Alcott suggested that the complaint be referred to the American Consulate-General but I reminded him that the "China Press" is Chinese owned and so registered with the Municipal Police.

I suggest we await receipt of the draft correction and, if it is satisfactory, present it for perusal by the Acting Consul General for Italy.

Portuguese Law

According to Portuguese law, you can't arrest a man between dusk and sunup. Local police tell me that this is one of the reasons why it is so difficult to arrest any Portuguese who might be engaged in operating a gambling den in Shanghai. It's a nice, convenient ruling for those who would evade the law. They have the entire night in which to make a getaway.

Subject: Gambling dens in the Western District - Situation.

Made by D.S.I. Loh Wei Kong Forwarded by D.S.I. Logan

With a view to extending "business", the Loh Kuo Hotel (六國飯店), a leading gambling establishment located at 346 Avenue Haig, has constructed an additional building in its compound. It is a three storied house and will be opened for use to-day, September 17. Including the new building mentioned, there are now three buildings in operation at the Loh Kuo Hotel at 346 Avenue Haig.

On September 16, a small gambling den which will be known as the "Sung Li Company" (勝利公司) was established in an unnumbered house next to 667 Edinburgh Road, O.O.L. (opposite the Chien Kun (乾坤) Theatre). This den pays a daily fee of $200.00 to the East Asia Charity Association, Lane 1032, 25 Yu Yuen Road.

Altogether there are two leading gambling dens and four small ones operating at the following addresses in the Western District :
